

SUNDAY PAPERS LIVE

#12 EDITION SUNDAY - APRIL 8, 2018

WORLD NEWS

JON SNOW

Jon has been the face of Channel 4 News since 1989 and has travelled the world to cover the news – from the fall of the Berlin Wall and the release of Nelson Mandela to Barack Obama's inauguration and the earthquake in Haiti. Jon was a highlight of our #2 Edition back in 2013, so it is a joy to welcome him back for more candid insights and an extended Q&A to help celebrate our fifth birthday.

UK NEWS

I SEE YOU...

Stand-up comedian Sam Gore's weekly I See You articles have been taking down celebrities and politicians with cutting, satirical, absurdist diatribes on Facebook since 2014. If you have not read them we suggest you look them up immediately. They are not just funny, they are damn insightful. Sam is bringing them out of the dark and onto the stage for a one-off highlights reel. If Chris Morris and Charlie Brooker hosted a verbal cage-fighting tournament the winner would be Sam.

STYLE

CHERRY HEALEY, ANNA 'MOTHER PUKKA'
& ZOE 'DRESS LIKE A MUM'

Is it as easy as it looks to create an online brand and/or business or is there swan-like hard work under the surface? The sartorial sage Zoe De Pass of Dress Like a Mum and campaigning powerhouse Anna Whitehouse of Mother Pukka talk to broadcaster and Cherry Healey about what's really behind the big, beautiful velvet curtain of curated social media and, if things aren't quite what they seem, what can others learn from the reality of building a brand and business online.

CULTURE

KEEPS ONE

A highlight of the #3 Edition, Reeps One's work is the product of a highly intimate, lifelong relationship with the human voice. The London-born musician and artist has been obsessively experimenting with innovative vocal practices alongside the creative representation of physics and sound since the age of 18. Yeff's unique skills have seen him uncover new keys to cognitive efficiency and expand his phonetic vocabulary to new boundaries.

RÍOIGNACH CONNOLLY

Our headliner Ríoghnach is best known as the voice of Honeyfeet & The Breath. For our #11 Edition she brought a gorgeous new project called Owl Dolls with multi-instrumentalist and singer-songwriter Leonie Evans. Probably the best thing we have ever had at Sunday Papers. The audience demanded on the spot that she return to headline the next event. We agreed, and so that is what is going to happen.

RANDOLPH MATTHEWS

British jazz's new hero will perform and converse on the transformational power of sound & music. Inspired by his belief that the power of voice can inspire lives, Randolph's performances span two decades. He has performed for the Queen and supported Herbie Hancock.

TRAVEL

HOLLY BUDGE

Artist, activist, adventurer - in 2008 she became the first woman to skydive Mount Everest. The following year, she raced semi-wild horses 1000 km across Mongolia in just 9 days. Her most recent adventures have taken her back to the Himalayas where she summited Everest and snowboarded from the summit of Mera Peak. Passionate about sustainability, design and conservation; last year Holly graduated with a Masters in Sustainable Design. Expect much food for thought amongst the jaw-dropping tales of adventure.

SPORT IRONGRAN

The oldest British woman to have completed an Ironman triathlon, and founder of the charity Silverfit. At the age of 50, Eddie Brocklesby decided to run her first half marathon. Now nearly 75, the past twenty years has seen her take part in marathons, triathlons and Ironman races across the globe and she has accrued many medals and awards. Eddie looks back on her life and explains just how she's managed to develop the energy to match the enthusiasm she's always had for an active lifestyle.

BUSINESS

DARREN COFFIELD & ROSS ASHCROFT

In the early nineties, Coffield worked with Joshua Compston on the formation of Factual Nonsense - the centre of the emerging Young British Artists scene. Renegade Inc. host Ross Ashcroft interviews him about the silent London exodus. With exorbitant housing prices pushing people and small businesses out of the capital, and cultural landmarks being shut down to make way for luxury property developments, they ask: does anyone interesting live in London anymore?

FOOD & DRINK

ANDREW WONG & MUKTA DAS

The story of how ancient Chinese recipes discovered in the Forbidden City in Beijing ended up winning the first Michelin star for a Chinese restaurant in London. Former chemistry student-turned celebrity chef A. Wong joins food anthropologist Mukta Das to take us on a journey spanning thousands of years and thousands of miles.

GARDENING

ISABELLA TREE

Forced to accept that intensive farming on their land was unsustainable, she made a spectacular leap of faith and decided to step back and let nature take over. Isabella tells the story of the 'Knepp experiment' and what it reveals of the ways in which we might regain that wilder, richer country. It shows how rewilding works; that it has multiple benefits for the land; that it can generate economic activity and employment; how it can benefit both nature and us -and that all of this can happen astonishingly quickly.

REVIEW

DAN SCHREIBER

Q_elf and star of the hit show No Such Thing As a Fish. Dan's career got a huge boost as the very first host of Sunday Papers Live in 2013. Dan's job is to discover random interesting facts and communicate them in fun ways - so he is very much our kind of chap. Dan's show just sold out the Sydney Opera House.

COLUMNIST

STEVE CROSS

Hosting, facilitating, and generally smoothing out proceedings is our #12 edition homemaker. Once upon a time he was a spectacularly poor lab scientist, then an OK science communicator and for a while a museum and art curator for Wellcome Collection. These days he's a geek comedian, presenter and producer, travelling across the UK helping all sorts of intellectual types share their passions.

CROSSWORDS

SON & SONS

It wouldn't be our 5th birthday without crosswords. Barely more coherent than toddlers themselves, our crossword gurus have been running the sillier side of Sunday for 5 years. Brush up on your charade skills for the live crossword challenges, but also pop down to their pub quiz and crafternoon crafts table full of crafty crafts.

THE WALK

THE BULLSHIT TOUR

For those who have not already caught these popular walks, Reuben from Bullshit London will be providing a walking tour of the environs surrounding Cecil Sharp House. You'll be bombarded with a combination of puns, quips, nonsense and rambling
